Embracing the Season of Lent

Wednesday, February 14th, in addition to being Valentine's Day, was Ash Wednesday. This day marked the beginning of the Lenten Season – a period of 40 days, plus 7 Sundays that ends with Easter. The 40 days are modeled after Jesus' 40 days of temptation in the wilderness. The 7 Sundays are intended to be 7 "little Easters" along the way – a respite of worship and celebration in the midst of our otherwise sober companionship of Jesus through his 40 day trial.

I did not grow up in a Christian tradition that emphasized Ash Wednesday or Lent in any fashion. My first exposure to this season of the church year was during my seminary days as I served on the staff of a congregation that did observe the liturgical year. I only attended my first Ash Wednesday service as a 35 year old adult, and I've only led a very few Ash Wednesday services as a pastor.

Still, I find this day, and season, to be increasingly important and significant in my faith – and I hope you might as well. So, this year, while the culture around us enjoyed all manner of reason to worry about Valentine's Day and getting your sweetheart the right bauble or card; others who follow Christ (and some who celebrated both V-day and Ash W.) remembered the ancient words: "Remember that you are dust and to dust you shall return."

Now that is sobering, isn't it? No one likes to think about his or her mortality, but the Lenten season, and more specifically our walk with Jesus through it, invites this memory. Why? In preparation for Easter is the simple answer. We are going to once again celebrate the resurrection of Jesus in 7 weeks. It will be a glorious festival day of worship and feasting and proclamation. But you cannot have Easter without Good Friday or Maundy Thursday, or all the days, weeks, and years of Jesus' ministry before. Lent is our opportunity to reboot and hear Jesus' words and observe his willing sacrifice in preparation for Resurrection Sunday.

This brings to mind the Lenten tradition of "giving something up." Again, if your tradition is unfamiliar with this spiritual practice, or you were raised to be suspicious of those traditions who seemed to rather routinely practice giving up certain foods during Lent, you may think this is silly. But what if you were to "give up" something of your choosing in order to more incline your thinking toward Christ and what he gave up for you?

More modern Lenten fasts have included the suggestion to "give up" things that consume our attention and minds in more harmful ways than chocolate or caffeine. Why not "give up" a form of social media that eats up your time each day? Why not "give up" watching your favorite news channel or program — especially if it is a source in this day of political division of anxiety in your life? Why not "give up" criticism? Complaining? Gossip? What might you give up, as a reminder of Jesus' sacrifice?

Allow me to make another suggestion while we are thinking about this "giving up" of things. When a person is trying to overcome an addiction, a much more helpful behavior than just trying to "win" the battle over that addiction by personal fortitude or moral strength, is to substitute another, positive behavior for the negative. So, you might think not only of what you will "give up" for Lent, but what you will "take on." What might fill the space of that which you've given up?

Take on prayer. Take on reading Scripture or a Lenten devotional book. Take on volunteering with your church or a community organization. Take on praise, complimenting others, giving thanks, writing a note of appreciation. What will you "take on"?

On Ash Wednesday as we reconnected with our mortality (Remember that you are dust and to dust you will return), we were also preparing to live into and celebrate our immortality through Christ. When we are "in Christ" death does not win the victory. Ash Wednesday, and the season of Lent, are good reminders that we live, struggle and too often succumb to the sinful broken world of our origin. We cannot overcome this reality, but thanks be to God, through Jesus, we do not have to do it ourselves. Jesus overcame sin and death on our behalf. Lent gives us the intentional opportunity to reflect on that gift of grace and thus be ready to celebrate Easter.

May your walk with Jesus through these 40 days bring you blessing.

Pastor Dan

"Lenten Lessons" Our Sermon and Worship Series for Lent

During the Season of Lent we will be sharing a worship series titled "Lenten Lessons."

Using Psalm 110 as our umbrella text, we see that the Messiah is portrayed as both "king" and "priest." The people of Jesus' day had certain images of these two roles, which were often corrupted by those who occupied them. Jesus comes turning those understandings of king and priest on end.

In this series we will look at several scripture passages from the life and ministry of Jesus. These include: his baptism/temptation/beginning of ministry; his "take up your cross" challenge; the cleansing of the temple; a "lifted up" saying in John 3; "a seed that falls to the ground and dies, multiplies" foreshadowing in John 12; and then on into the Scriptures of Holy Week.

In I Peter 2:9 we read "you are a. . . royal priesthood." Not only do we celebrate Messiah as King and High Priest, we are invited to take on his character as we serve in this royal priesthood.

Please join us for worship during Lent.

Thanks to my church family of FBC for ones who brought food, sent cards, called to check on me, visited me and prayed for me during my recent stay at the hospital and upon returning home. All of these were so appreciated, especially the many prayers. God is so good and I was greatly humbled by your generosity.

God bless all of you, Jeannie Wheeler

To all of our friends at FBC,

We want to express our sincere appreciation for all of the prayers, visits, food, and cards during Ken's recent hip replacement surgery. A special thanks to the person who knitted the beautiful red and black prayer shawl. It provided much comfort during recovery.

Ken & Jeanne Greenlee

My family and I want to thank everyone at FBC for the prayers, support, cards, and the caring thoughts you have shared with us during Sarah's illness and funeral. During her illness were some difficult times and it was hard to continue on, but God and our good friends were praying for us which helped keep us strong. A special thanks to Dan for all of the visits and kind words he spoke at Sarah's service. Also thanks to Donna for the special music she played and the kitchen staff who provided the celebration brunch after the service.

God Bless, Frank Eldridge & Family

Healthy Living Tips

What Is Colorectal Cancer Screening?

A screening test is used to look for a disease when a person doesn't have symptoms. (https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/colorectal/basic_info/ symptoms.htm) (When a person has symptoms, diagnostic tests are used to find out the cause of the symptoms.)

Colorectal cancer almost always develops from precancerous polyps (abnormal growths) in the colon or rectum. Screening tests (https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/colorectal/basic_info/screening/tests.htm) can find precancerous polyps, so that they can be removed before they turn into cancer. Screening tests can also find colorectal cancer early, when treatment works best.

Screening Guidelines

Regular screening, beginning at age 50, is the key to preventing colorectal cancer. The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) recommends that adults age 50 to 75 be screened for colorectal cancer. The USPSTF recommends that adults age 76 to 85 ask their doctor if they should be screened.

When Should I Begin to Get Screened?

You should begin screening for colorectal cancer soon after turning 50, then continue getting screened at regular intervals. However, you may need to be tested earlier than 50, or more often than other people, if —

- You or a close relative have had colorectal polyps or colorectal cancer.
- You have an inflammatory bowel disease (https://www.cdc.gov/ibd/) such as Crohn's disease or ulcerative colitis.
- You have a genetic syndrome such as familial adenomatous polyposis (FAP) or hereditary non-polyposis colorectal cancer (Lynch syndrome).

If you think you are at increased risk for colorectal cancer, speak with your doctor about—

- When to begin screening.
- Which test is right for you.
- How often to get tested.

ADULT STUDY FELLOWSHIP

The first three Sundays in March will be three sessions that focus on the Old Testament book of 2 Chronicles. When's the last time you spent time in that book? Have you noticed that the books of Kings and Chronicles report the same information in many places? Why is that? David as King was "a man after God's own heart" but why didn't God let him build the Temple? Who was God's choice to do that? How many temples were built over the years? This study will be led by Lois and Bill Griffith and will be based on the following scriptures:

March 4 - 2 Chronicles 6:12-21; 32-33; (cf 1 Kings 8:22-30; 41-43)

March 11 - 2 Chronicles 7:1-9 (cf. 1 Kings 8:59-68)

March 18 - 2 Chronicles 7: 12-22 (cf. 1 Kings 9:1-11)

Everyone is invited!

"I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" Easter Sunday, April 1 at 10:45 a.m. ~ Fellowship Hall

On Easter Sunday morning there will be a special multi-media program in Fellowship Hall called "I walked Today Where Jesus Walked." Bill Griffith will share his experience of walking where Jesus walked. He will show his slides taken in the Holy Land with added music and narration to provide visual insight and inspiration for an Easter Sunday experience. The program is sponsored by the Adult Study Fellowship and everyone is invited.

Revitalization News

FBC continues in the prayerful work of congregational revitalization through Five Ministry Pathways: Worship, Discipleship, Missions, Community, and Children & Youth. Here's a brief update on recent activity in three of these pathways:

Worship: We will continue to experience "transitional worship" services through April as each Sunday's worship is a bit different in style and feel. We begin each month with a more formal/traditional service, followed by blended/traditional, blended/informal and praise-team led worship. We are grateful to a few guest musicians who've helped us on a Sunday with worship in January and February; as well as to our many FBC volunteers who've helped to lead worship each week. You may notice us trying some new things, learning as we go, and continuing to experiment. That will be the case through April.

Please save Sunday, May 6th as the date for our Congregational Worship Conversation.

This conversation will be held after 2nd Hour in Fellowship Hall around a lite lunch, giving us time to share what we are learning. We offer the following questions for your reflection:

What have you/we learned about worship?

What approach(es) to worship will best help us in our goal of "keeping those who are already part of FBC engaged, and reaching persons who are not part of FBC?"

What opportunities and/or challenges has this time of learning about worship revealed?

As we move forward what would be one thing you would like others to know about worship at FBC?

Team members include: Jennifer Kelley, Heidi Jones, Teresa Arbuckle, Randy & Jeannie Wheeler, Sue Putterill, Carol Poe, Joyce Crowder and Pastor Dan.

Discipleship: Our Discipleship Pathway helps us plan for Adult Education and Formation opportunities through Grow Groups and Sunday morning 2nd Hour classes. Our Winter Grow Groups are currently winding down. The Talents and Inquirers Classes have reformed into the Adult Study Fellowship (ASF) – meeting Sunday mornings, 2nd hour in Fellowship Hall.

An Alternative Adult Study opportunity often meets on the lower level, and the J.O.Y. class continues to meet in the Prayer Room. This team is also supporting some summer elective study options in cooperation with the Sabbatical Team.

Team members include: Alice Richmond, Bob & Jean Langdon, Jim Reid, Lance Alexander, Bill Baker, Deanna Glick and Pastor Dan.

Community: Recent Community Events included the all-church game night in January and "A Night at the Museum" at Kids Commons in February. Plans are underway for our Easter Breakfast and Children's Easter Activities.

The Community Marketing group, in cooperation with the Church Council, recently signed on with TD Advertising of Columbus to help us with all things communication, marketing and outreach oriented. Special thanks to the FBC Foundation for a grant to help cover these costs, another portion of which is being funded by the remaining "Faithful at 50" outreach funds.

Team members include: Events—Lori Cash, Bob & Judy Rhude, Larry & Linda Mayfield, Keith Arbuckle, Jessica Arbuckle; Marketing—Jerald & Adrienne Hatton, Grace Marshall, Jeff Caldwell, Donna Tull, Kerry & Alice Richmond.
